RECOGNITION FOR ERIN DEMANDED

By International News Service

Atlantic City, June 17.—By unanimous vote the American Federation of Labor went on record today as favoring recognition of the Irish republic, after a bitter fight in which resolutions merely expressing sympathy for Ireland and favoring self-determination were amended and made to include recognition.

The resolution as it was finally passed amid uproar and cheering follows:

Resolved, that we affirm it is the well conceded conviction of the American Federation of Labor that it is the unquestioned right of the Irish people to determine the form of government under which they shall live and

Whereas the League of Nations is a principalist regarding the self-determination principle, with as much force to insist as to any other of its principles, and is recognized by the Peace Conference.

Resolved That the officers of the American Federation of Labor be instructed to inform the League of Nations and the President of the United States with the request that it be accepted as their policy.

TO HELP GERMANY IN RESTORING HER INDUSTRIES

The Dramatic Order of Knights of Klonoos held its big annual Nantasket today in honor of their boys who have served or are serving in the armed forces. Delegates were present from Fortieth, Ninety-first, Ninety-second, Ninety-third, Ninety-fourth, Ninety-fifth, Ninety-sixth, Ninety-seventh, Ninety-eighth, Ninety-ninth, and one hundredth clusters, N. H. Barr, Vt.; Providence, R. I.; New Britain, Ct.; Worcester, Mass.; and other cities and towns, and were the guests here of the Abou Adhem Temple of Klonoos.

About 800 members and their guests were present for the day's activities. The exercises and sports were the big parade. "Carefully planned" it was carried out with the enthusiasm and the spirit of the day.

In the evening, the boys and their guests were entertained at a banquet.

Historic Bunker Hill Monument in memory of this famous "meadow" Greater Boston today celebrated with the characteristic energy and zest of the city the anniversary of the battle, locally, than perhaps any other event—June 17.

Adding the features of the elaborate and the exercises and sports was the big parade. "Carefully planned" it was carried out with the enthusiasm and the spirit of the day.

In the evening, the boys and their guests were entertained at a banquet.

The small boy with his firecrackers was in evidence and now that the war was over enjoyed an unrestrained holiday.

The morning program included a Gaelic football game; hurling match at 11 o'clock between the Emmett and Kilkham hurling teams, and a baseball game. All the athletic events were held at Sullivan square under the direction of Chairman Daniel J. McDonald.

At Nantasket the party put up at the Villa Napoli, where after dinner an address was made by Lieutenant-Governor Channing Cox, a member of the order. There were sports of all kinds, baseball between El Karun and Abou Ben Adhem, fat men's race, a tug tug-a-war, and musical events for lads who have been in the service.

IN CITY HOSPITAL

Andrew Smitta, a widely known resident of Dorchester, is dead at the City Hospital today after a long illness. He died at 10:30 p.m. and was survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held Thursday from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Degman, No. 303 Freeport street, Dorchester.

GRANT APPEALS DECISION ON RAIN CHECKS

Cincinnati, G. June 17.—George Washington Grant has lost the first round of his debate with Harry Hermann regarding the legality of Sunday's ball game between the Braves and Reds.

But G. Washington Grant isn't through battling yet. How could he be, with a name like that? Grant lost the first round late Monday when he received the following telegram from John Heyler, president of the National League:

"Yesterday's game was not a legal tie, for the reason that five or more equal innings had not been played by each team. The four and a half inning provision printed on rain checks is to protect the home club if the game is to be under the last sentence of Rule 27. My ruling is rain checks are good. An unfortunate situation, but an incident that to rule otherwise would set a bad precedent and would be considered unfair by the baseball public. You have right to appeal from this decision."

And Grant immediately went into training for Round 2 by writing Heyler at Pittsburgh, taking an appeal from the president's decision and asking that the board of directors of the league pass on the question.

This board is composed of Charles E. Bennett, New York; Charles E. Bennett, Brooklyn; William Baker, Philadelphia; and Hermann.

Heyler's ruling has not convinced Grant that Sunday's game was not a legal tie, for he is convinced that the Cincinnati Club has the right to withhold Sunday's share of the receipts. Grant has little hope now of winning the argument. But he doesn't intend quitting until he has tried every angle. This probably is because he is not at all the magnate business and still believes in any business principles to conducting his baseball affairs.

Movement of Gold
The application of the Treasury Department for shipment of 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 from the United States to facilitate exchange has been approved by the Federal Reserve Board. The shipment will be made in three installments of 4,000,000 each.

Copper Metal Remains Firm
Copper metal remained firm at the beginning of the week, all leading selling interests adding 12 1/2 cents a pound for nearby and 14 for August delivery. London was firm but heavy. The country's present copper surplus is estimated at Washington to be between 1,200,000,000 and 1,500,000,000.

Oil Output Decreased
Crude petroleum production and delivered in this country for April averaged about 1,000,000 barrels a day, a decrease of 1,000,000 barrels from the March total.

New York Post-Treasury Gain
New York, June 17.—The treasury gained 100,000 from the bank to 1,000,000.

TRADING DULL ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

The Boston market was irregular at the beginning of the business and staid in trading during the morning. Trading was of comparatively small volume and lacked breadth. The market was without special features. Most price changes were fractional. Neither buyers nor sellers were active and speculating remained less than usual.

The Knox Resolution Shows Sensible and Patriotic Statesmanship; Should Be Supported by All Americans

We feel this way about the Knox resolution:

First, we rejoice that clear thinking statesmanship has found a simple, practical method of untangling the ridiculous—and at the same time tragical—snarl in which sentimental and futile diplomacy has tangled our national interests and the interests of the whole civilized world.

And, secondly, we regret that the Democratic party could not find such clear thinking statesmanship among its leaders, and that the country has been forced to turn to the leaders of the Republican party for sane guidance and sensible peace terms.

The American would infinitely have preferred to see a Democratic Administration propose and conclude a sensible, practical peace than to see a Democratic Administration make a futile failure and an impossible mess of the business.

Because the American is and always has been an ardent supporter of true, progressive, Jeffersonian democracy.

But there is one thing which we hold far above any considerations of party allegiance—that is, the welfare in the world of this America of ours.

With us POLITICS STOPS AT SALT WATER.

At the shore of either ocean we refuse to be either Democratic or Republican, and are only AMERICAN.

So now, when we find a Democratic Administration unable to make peace with clear thinking, advance, security or honor to the Republic, and also find a Republican opposition proposing a quick, advantageous, reasonable and honorable end of the present intolerable condition—which is neither peace nor war—we do not hesitate for a moment to give to this Republican proposal that earnest support which every American who holds fast in his heart of hearts the welfare, the liberties and the well-tested and long-successful policies handed down from our great Washington to his successors in the leadership of the nation—each passing to another in unbroken succession the bright torch of wise counsel and patriotic policy lighted by the First President.

The preamble of the resolution presented by Senator Knox utters truths which cannot be too often repeated by American lips.

It recites first of all that the Congress declared war upon Germany "pursuant to its EXCLUSIVE AUTHORITY, under the Constitution."

It then recites that THE SOLE REASON why Congress did declare war upon Germany was that the IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT of Germany (which is no longer existent) had "committed repeated acts of war against the Government and the people of the United States."

Thus the Congress of the United States, which declared the war, states clearly and explicitly that it did so declare war, NOT to restore Belgium, NOT to regain Alsace-Lorraine, or France nor to give German territory to France; NOT to help England annex German Africa, and Egypt and Mesopotamia and Persia; NOT to hand over to Japanese autocracy and militarism Chinese territory and millions of Chinese people; NOT to help the United States to set up a heterogeneous collection of quarrelsome small sovereignties in Eastern Europe; NOT to establish a super-sovereignty to which to surrender our own sovereignty—but for THE SOLE AND SINGLE PURPOSE OF COMPELLING THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO CEASE ITS ACTS OF WAR AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES; and to make rightful reparation for the injuries done to the United States.

That was the SOLE REASON and the SOLE PURPOSE of the Congress in declaring war.

And if everybody did not know this to be true there is the very DECLARATION OF WAR ITSELF, in black and white, to prove the truth and the facts.

It is true that Mr. Wilson, AFTER the Congress had declared war, became a German submarine agent upon our ships, proceeded to find many reasons for our going to war and many objects in our making war which neither the Congress nor any American had ever heard of at the time war was declared.

But ours is—or ought to be, at least—government by laws, and not of men. OF A MAN, and the only branch of our tripartite Government which can LAWFULLY DECLARE WAR is the Congress; and the only branch of that same Government which can LAWFULLY DEFINE THE REASON for a declaration of war and THE PURPOSES OF THE WAR so declared is the Congress; and Mr. Wilson had no more lawful or binding authority to assert that the war was declared for reasons and objects which the Congress DID NOT HAVE IN CONTEMPLATION than he had to declare war himself in the place of the Congress. Not a bit more.

The facts of this whole matter are as plain as day, and beyond any dispute, save by the ignorant or silly.

The British, French, Russian, Japanese, Belgian and Serbian Governments, on the one hand, and the German and Austro-Hungarian Governments, on the other hand, went to war in 1914. It was a purely European war, in which we had no other national interest except to protect our neutral rights. The President issued an earnest proclamation to that effect, and nobody with any sense at all doubted that he was right.

The war went on, and one by one, by means of bribery, coercion, threats, promises, secret treaties, propaganda and all that sort of thing, all the nations of Europe, except Spain, Switzerland, Holland and the Scandinavian kingdoms, were drawn into the conflict, some on one side, some on the other.

Both sides proclaimed the highest motives, and the neutral world was treated to the amazing spectacle of the faithless and oppressive Japanese and Russian autocracies arrayed against the Hohenzollern and Hapsburg monarchies, while each tyranny called war and earth to witness that it was fighting for DEMOCRATIC ideals of human LIBERTY.

In the meantime, the President of the United States had urged Americans to be neutral in word and deed; had repeatedly stated that the causes of the war were too obscurely rooted in the past to be capable of being determined; had informed the Belgian Commission that the invasion of Belgium was NOT a matter in which the United States could properly protest or interfere; had settled the incident of the Lusitania without war; had notified the belligerents that a draw—"a peace without victory"—was the ONLY solution of the struggle that would prevent future wars of revenge; had gone to the country as a candidate for re-election upon the plea that he had avoided becoming entangled in a war which was no affair of ours; had been re-elected upon that plea; and had, within a month of his reinauguration, requested the Congress to declare war.

Why?

Because the German Imperial Government had committed warlike aggressions against the United States, and had NOT.

IFIED US OF ITS INTENTION TO SINK OUR NEUTRAL SHIPS, WITHOUT WARNING, IF THEY CROSSED A WAR ZONE DRAWN AROUND THE BRITISH ISLES.

That was the only reason the Congress EXPRESSED, the only reason the Congress HAD, the only reason the American people KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT, so that the preamble of the Knox resolution states the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth when it recites the reason and purpose of our declaration of war.

And the Knox resolution expresses EXACTLY the sentiment and judgment of intelligent and patriotic Americans when the preamble proceeds from this premise to its declaration of the Senate's deep concern over and strong dissent from the obligations sought to be imposed upon the United States by the treaty terms drafted at Paris.

The preamble truthfully says that the proposed terms "are calculated to force upon us UNDESIRABLE AND FAR REACHING COVENANTS, INIMICAL TO OUR FREE INSTITUTIONS"; that they seek to force upon us a plan of a League of Nations which our people have had neither opportunity nor sufficient time to study and digest, and that "the treaty, as drawn, contains principles, guarantees and undertakings OBLITERATIVE OF LEGITIMATE RACE AND NATIONAL ASPIRATIONS, OPPRESSIVE OF WEAK NATIONS AND PEOPLES, AND DESTRUCTIVE OF HUMAN PROGRESS AND LIBERTY."

To every word of which we say, Amen!

Because, Americans, they are words of truth and soberness. And we should all heed them. Indeed we should.

Then upon this splendid foundation of irrefutable fact, Senator Knox proceeds to build his five-pillared edifice of constructive treaty-making.

In summary, this historical resolution provides, asserts and ordains:

1. That the United States went to war to correct the wrongs committed against this Government by Germany and that the sole idea of this Government in making peace is to satisfy the purposes for which the United States went to war.

2. That no treaty will be acceptable to the United States Senate which in effect amends the Constitution of the United States.

3. That the treaty of peace be separated from the League of Nations covenant and that a diplomatic commission be substituted for the League of Nations without prejudice until such time as thorough consideration can be given the league.

4. The three foregoing limitations are intended to facilitate the actual making of peace and will not affect the League of Nations, which is left to later discussion.

5. That the Senate favors a declaration by the United States that any combination of European Powers which might threaten the peace of the world would cause grave alarm to the United States, which would take proper steps to prevent another embroilment in a world war.

No written instruction is ever perfect, and Senator Knox's resolution would be bettered by omitting or amending the fifth paragraph.

With the exception of this entirely unnecessary paragraph every word of Senator Knox's resolution will meet the hearty approval of all sensible Americans, because—

1. It provides a speedy and sensible method of ending the ridiculous and tragical situation in which the world finds itself after seven months of futile, quarrelsome and deplorable diplomatic wrangling and delay at Paris.

2. It gives the world notice that this is still a republic, RULED BY ITS CITIZENS, through their representatives, and NOT BY ONE MAN.

3. It shows a speedy and practical way to end this intolerable state of affairs, which is neither peace nor war, and to get our executive officials and our soldiers out of Europe and back home, WHERE THEY BELONG.

4. It postpones the formation of a League of Nations until the people of the United States have had time to discuss that most important proposal in all its bearings and have had an opportunity to decide the question BY POPULAR VOTE—the only way in which any great question should be decided by a free democracy.

From every standpoint of expediency, fairness, good sense and future safety, the resolution offered by Senator Knox should be adopted by the Senate.

The whole nation is sick and tired of this wretched, inexcusable, costly and tragical fiasco at Paris.

The people are weary of endless talk, talk, talk, while the world drifts helplessly toward bankruptcy and the threatened wreck of all civilization.

It is time the sentiment of the right-minded people of our good and sensible America found a voice that the muddling and incomplete diplomats in Paris can hear.

And in the name of the American people we urge the Senate to pass this admirable resolution proposed by Senator Knox; to use its undoubted Constitutional authority to put an end to this cruel fiasco of treaty-making; to restore to us our Government and our soldiers, and to bring peace to the distracted and tormented world of men.

And we go further still.

We suggest that in case any executive opposition is successful in making this splendid resolution of no effect, that the Congress then IMMEDIATELY EXERCISE ITS ULTIMATE AUTHORITY UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, and by a joint resolution of both Houses DECLARE THAT THE STATE OF WAR PROCLAIMED BY THE CONGRESS TO EXIST BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE GERMAN EMPIRE HAS CEASED TO EXIST—and so make peace an accomplished fact, without a single day's further unnecessary delay.

That is what the American people want—peace.

Some of the American people want a League of Nations.

Some of them do not.

BUT ALL OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE want peace.

They are sick and tired of the present conditions. They want THEIR GOVERNMENT back home, where it belongs.

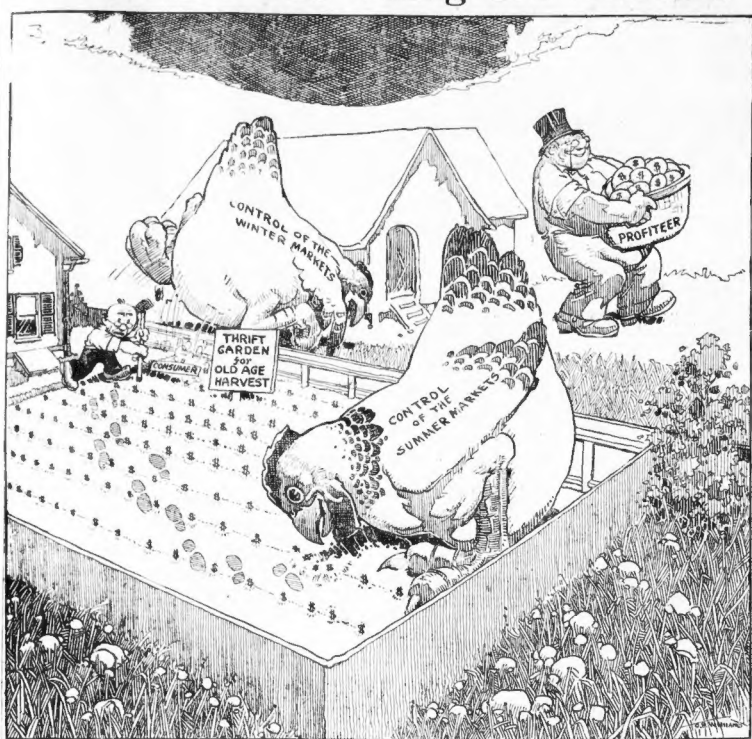

They want THEIR BOYS back home, where they belong.

They want peace, Mr. President.

They want peace, Senators.

Give them peace!

REVISION DOWNWARD

Speaking of the ideal husband, I figure that the ideal changes with the age of woman. She demands less with increasing years. Her ideals, from twenty years onward, may be listed as follows:

At 20—A loyal, handsome, strong, romantic, successful man.

At 25—A loyal, handsome, strong, successful man.

At 30—A loyal, strong, successful man.

At 35—A loyal, strong man.

At 40—A loyal man.

At 45—A man.

In Worcester Sunday golf was played by clumber rich and fraid.

But now the Sunday baseball muss has gummed the situation.

The late said Sunday ball must cease. They stopped it, did the scien police.

But also gave the golfing set the same interpretation.

The sauce they served the baseball fan they passed out to the golfing man.

No more the smart set salutes with for Sabbath desecration.

The golfing upon the links is "stylized" by a legal jinx.

And now he knows the common wish for Sunday relaxation.

The Smallest Foot
Various Barometers
A Cat and Dog Flew
By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright, 1919.)

President Wilson still comes back to take the stump against his political opponents and for the peace league. And his first speech will probably be made at some central point on the 4th of July. The central point and the biggest crowd on that day will be found in a prize ring twenty feet square at Toledo, O.

Any speech made, any deeds done outside of that roped square on July 4th will attract comparatively little attention.

The first flight across the Atlantic was made by an American flying machine and all American fliers.

Now comes another daring, successful flight across 1908 miles of water, and America has some interest in that. Lord Northcliffe, who offered a reward for the flight, tells Brown, the navigator, that "this exploit is a typical example of British courage and organizing efficiency."

It turns out that Brown is an American, born in Scotland, and this fact Northcliffe recognizes in a later message of congratulations. This gives the United States a close interest in both the first and second flights across the water.

Northcliffe's congratulation to the fliers redoubles that they departed from and arrived at those two portions of the British Commonwealth, the happy and prosperous Dominion of Newfoundland and the future equally happy and prosperous Dominion of Ireland.

Eruditely Northcliffe expresses something to happen in Ireland. There would be less trouble and more happiness there if Ireland were as independent as "other dominions," lands dominated by the British; for instance, Canada.

There are many kinds of barometers. You have seen the farmers' barometer, the tail of a mule indicating good weather or bad, according to its position. You have seen the other barometer, a tiny ballet dancer who little gauge shift changes from pink to blue if the weather is going to change. The third barometer, of good and bad news, is the stock exchange in Wall Street.

It is difficult, however, to believe that Germany proposes to end new war to other complicity.

Machines still to be built will fly at the rate of a thousand miles an hour, if that speed is maintained. Men will be able to breakfast in New York and dine the same day in Mexico. Still have reason to shoot. Americans and others when inspired to do so.

The gentlemen busy at present. When he fires across our border American soldiers go over and war. "Please don't do that any more." Then they come back and wish for more shooting. This is a patient country.

The Germans will be allowed to have 200,000 soldiers in their army instead of 100,000 only. It makes little difference. There are five or six million trained soldiers at least in Germany now and officers that know how to direct them.

It doesn't make much difference whether you allow 100,000 or 200,000 them to eat themselves soldiers and wear uniforms. They are ready for business at any moment, thoroughly trained. For that matter, the performance of the United States, getting two or three million men ready and sending more than a million of them on the stage claim. The advice to young men is: "Admiral (the lady) that gets the alpine, but don't marry her." If you want to be known in history as the father of successful despatches.

Villon's "Snows of Yesteryear" speaks of "Bertha, our grande pique." That lady, "Bertha with the big feet," was the mother of Charlemagne, the biggest man in Europe for several centuries.

The mother of Lincoln could not have won the gold spitter. It would have taken several such to supply her with one shoe. The mother of Napoleon, had good-sized feet and wide hips. Generally speaking, a strong man comes from a strong mother. It is a pity that the man's foolishness should attach so much importance to under-sized feet. The perfect woman is the Venus de Milo. Americans will find the right shape for a mother. Study her figure.

Concerning the flying machine, launched at by the wise only a few years ago, this may be said positively: Special delivery letters by flying machine will soon answer the purpose of at least 50 per cent. of the cables now sent under the water. The English machine averaged 120 miles an hour during its flight.

Machines still to be built will fly at the rate of a thousand miles an hour, if that speed is maintained. Men will be able to breakfast in New York and dine the same day in Mexico. Still have reason to shoot. Americans and others when inspired to do so.

The gentlemen busy at present. When he fires across our border American soldiers go over and war. "Please don't do that any more." Then they come back and wish for more shooting. This is a patient country.
